GERMANS BREAK INTO CRIMEA, GAIN STEADILY WHILE REDS STRENGTHEN DEFENSE OF MOSCOW

U.S. to Keep Sub Sinking In Secrecy

Knox Declines Either to Confirm or Deny Reports U-Boats Are Sunk Calls It Policy

Washington, Oct. 29 (P)—Secretary Knox said today that the navy probably would apply a policy of secrecy to the sinkings of any German submarines in engagements with American war vessels.

Knox flatly declined either to confirm or deny reports, brought to his attention at his press conference, that some German submarines had been sunk.

Told that "rumors and reports of the sinking of subs" had been current here and elsewhere for some time, he said that nothing could be said about that and continued with a discussion of British war policy on such things.

"The British have been in the war a long time," Knox said, "but you haven't read of very many submarines being sunk by the British, have you?"

This does not mean, however, that many submarines have not been sunk, Knox said. Withholding of news, however, is "just a matter of obvious policy," he explained.

At one point, Knox said in reply to questions about whether any sinkings had actually been accomplished that "you can draw your own conclusions, but don't draw any rash ones."

He said that "when we sink them, we will decide whether to make an announcement on the basis of the safety of our men and victory for our forces."

Knox was asked whether it was not true that at a recent press conference he had said that any engagement involving an American warship would be announced as soon as it became known here. He replied that this policy applied only to an engagement "with a surface raider."

The reason for withholding information about submarine sinkings, the secretary said, is that it might affect the morale of the crews of the enemy.

"They go out and never come back," he said.

Torpedo Ruins Game

Miami, Fla., Oct. 29 (P)—The torpedo that sank the tanker I. C. White recently also broke up a poker game and deprived Chief J. Blowsy of his winnings. "I don't remember when the crash came," he said, "but I know I was winning and had pretty well cleaned out the bunch in the petty officers' ward room. We were all thrown about by the concussion, and I left the money—about $160—right there."

Duce Clarifies Statement

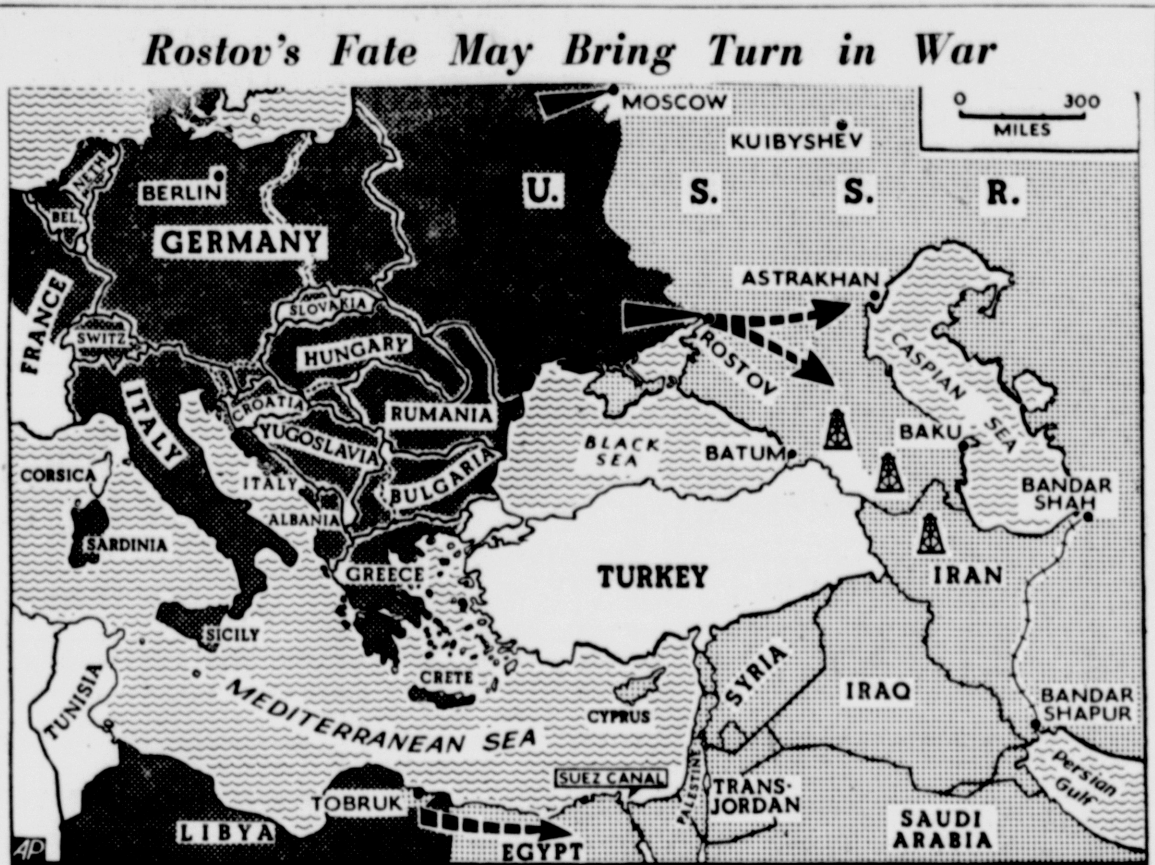

Rome, Oct. 29 (P)—An authoritative source said today that Premier Mussolini's declaration "bolshevism's shady European and American allies will perish with it" yesterday referred not to the United States, but to its "warmongers." The comment was made to remove any impression that Mussolini had threatened the United States or said that the country would perish, a high Fascist said.

Albany Woman Killed

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (P)—Mrs. Harry A. Connors was fatally beaten with an axe in her home today, and in the attic police discovered hanging the body of Patrick Buckley, 40-year-old handyman. Connors, vice president of a construction firm, found his wife unconscious in the front hallway when he returned to the house at noon for lunch. The axe was nearby. Coroner J. G. Nealon said Buckley had been dead about two hours.

State Has Chilly Weather

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (P)—Chilling weather enveloped most of New York today with central, eastern and southern sections of the state shivering in sub-freezing temperatures. The mercury dropped to 25.7 degrees in Albany, 22 in New Hackensack, 27 in Ticonderoga, 29 in Binghamton and 27 in Syracuse. The minimum in Rochester was 32, Buffalo 35, and New York city, 36.

A turning point in the German-Russian war was foreseen by London strategists as Nazi legions were reported within 15 miles of Rostov, important Russian "gateway" to the Caucasus. Observers regarded it as possible that Hitler might make one thrust toward Astrakhan and another toward the Caucasus oil fields (arrows), which would bring General Wavell's forces marching up through Iran. Meantime high ranking Turkish generals saw Hitler personally, leading to speculation that the Fuehrer might be applying pressure for transport of Nazi forces across Turkey in a counter-move. An Axis assault on Egypt (lower arrow) was also regarded as a possibility.

Alcoholic Effect To Be Given Tests At Kansas City

Drivers Will Get Their Whisky, Then Undertake to Drive on Synthetic Public Highway

Kansas City, Oct. 29 (P)—Wanted: Drivers who like to take a short or two before taking the old bus out.

The police department is going to give them all the whisky they want and start them out in automobiles to determine just how dangerous a drunk driver is.

A synthetic road, complete with curves and markers, will be set up in the American Royal Pavilion. Spectators—selected safety engineers, physicians, judges, highway patrolmen and police officers—will serve as a board of judges to grade the drivers.

At least 30 will be tested in a two-day demonstration November 18 and 19. Police Chief Harold Anderson said. They will include some who rarely drink, some who drink occasionally and habitual drinkers.

Candidates first will drive the course sober. After a dinner each will receive two ounces of his favorite whisky. Twenty minutes later each must drive 200 feet forward, keeping the left wheels between two lines 12 inches apart, then reverse back to the starting point.

Half an hour later they will receive another two ounces of whisky and each driver must follow a figure eight outlined by sixteen poles, each bearing a standard highway marker. The course will be fifty feet wide at its widest point. Time limit to cover the course is three minutes.

Score whisky and more driving will follow at 30 minute intervals.

Board of Health Receives Complaint About Students' Disposal of Lunches

Complaints received from two women residing in the vicinity of the Kingston High School as to the manner in which the students dispose of their empty lunch bags and the food they fail to eat were brought to the attention of the Board of Health on Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the board.

It was stated that the complainants claimed that the disposal of the remains of uneaten lunches thrown in the street gutters and onto the lawns in front of homes had a tendency to attract rats and other vermin.

After some discussion the board decided to send a communication to the school authorities calling attention to the complaints that had been received by the board, and asking that the education authorities request the students to cooperate in seeing to it that further complaints of a like nature be no longer received.

Mrs. David Farber appeared before the board last night and asked to have the Farber slaughter house permit renewed. There had been no slaughtering done at the slaughter house at 46 Chambers street for more than six months, due to the illness and death of her husband.

The family, she said, now desired to resume the business and for that reason asked that the permit originally granted her husband be renewed.

The request was referred to the sanitary committee of the board which will inspect the premises and see what improvements are necessary and report back to the board at its next meeting.

Births far exceeded deaths in Kingston during September, according to the reports of the officers filed with the board last night. There were 67 births and 39 deaths recorded last month, as compared with 62 births and 52 deaths in September of last year.

Reportable Diseases

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, reported the following communicable diseases:

12 Die in Fire, 7 Others Are Injured

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 29 (P)—An oil stove which exploded after it was dropped, turned a two-and-a-half-story frame building at 4 Walnut Place into a raging inferno last night, killing 12 members of a negro family and injuring at least seven others.

Ten of the victims were children. Assistant County Medical Examiner George W. Olcott, Jr., said his examination showed that several were engulfed by flames while asleep in beds on the upper floors. Others were trapped while staggering toward windows.

Fire Chief John Graham said a lighted stove being carried downstairs by Rudolph Durham, fell and exploded sending flames whipping through the house.

The flames blocked doorways, leaving only windows as avenues of escape.

Etzel Admits He Sabotaged Planes

F.B.I. and Glenn Martin Officials Say Man, 22, Tells of Acts

Baltimore, Oct. 29 (P)—E. A. Soucy, special agent in charge of the Baltimore Bureau of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today the arrest of Michael William Etzel, 22, for what he said was admitted sabotage against airplanes at the Glenn L. Martin plant, where he had been employed since August, 1939.

Soucy said that Etzel made a statement to F.B.I. and company officials saying:

O'Leary Won't Be Made an Issue by State Legislature

Lehman Expresses Belief O'Leary Would Serve Through 1942; May Revise Law

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (P)—Influential Republican quarters doubted "very much" today that the G. O. P.-controlled legislature would attempt to unseat Joseph V. O'Leary, American Labor party state comptroller appointed by Governor Lehman.

The possibility was broached after the Democratic governor, commenting in New York city upon the Court of Appeals' voidance of a November 4 election for comptroller, expressed belief O'Leary would serve through 1942.

Saying the Republican majority would be reluctant to undertake further court action which a legislative contest of the O'Leary appointment might entail, an authoritative party spokesman said "I doubt very much if we will make it an issue."

Meantime revision of the election law by the 1942 legislature was proposed, to correct weaknesses upon the Court of Appeals based its nullification of the comptroller election.

The court's ruling came in an action by Republicans to obtain for Frank C. Moore, their comptroller candidate, the nomination by the City Fusion Party, an independent voting group. O'Leary was the Democratic-A. L. P. nominee.

The court held the election law fails to provide for such independent nominations as that of the City Fusion party after October 7 and thereby violates a constitutional provision that all the people must be allowed participation in an election.

Discussion of corrective legislation brought a suggestion that the final date for filing all nominations be designated a week or two earlier to permit time for checking and certifying independent petitions.

Talk of a possible legislative contest of the O'Leary appointment developed out of some capital legal opinion it is effective only until January 1, 1942. The opinion was expressed despite Governor Lehman's assertion that, to the best of his knowledge, there is "no necessity" for reappointing O'Leary after that date.

The legislature is empowered to fill vacancies occurring while it is in session. The 1942 legislature does not convene until January 7 but the constitution says the "legislative term shall begin on the first day of January."

Masons Observe 150th Anniversary Of Lodge No. 10

Delegates From Sponsored Groups Are Present at Celebration; Kearney Gives Address

Tuesday evening ceremonies in observance of the 150th anniversary of the founding of Masonry in Kingston and vicinity were held in Masonic Temple, Albany avenue. During the course of the evening Philip E. Kearney, historian of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., delivered an historical address in which he recounted that there was evidence of the holding of Masonic meetings prior to the American revolutionary war but that the first definite and reliable proof indicates that regular meetings were held in the year 1790.

During its history Kingston Lodge, No. 10, and its predecessors, sponsored the establishment of four lodges. In the order of their founding they are Ulster Lodge, No. 193, of Saugerties; Rondout Lodge, No. 343, of this city; Margaretville Lodge, No. 389, of Margaretville, and Wawarsing Lodge, No. 582, of Ellenville.

Delegates were present in response to invitations from the four lodges which have been sponsored by Kingston Lodge. Those in attendance were R. A. L. Schuchardt, master of Ulster Lodge of Saugerties, who was accompanied by Percy M. Abeel, Clarence S. Hallenbeck, past masters, and other members. From Rondout Lodge was R. W. Heffernan, master, and Fred A. Meeker, John F. Romulus, past masters of the lodge, in addition to past district delegates. From Margaretville were Herman Veit, master, and Past Masters Ira A. Terry, Harry J. Miller and DeWitt G. Day. The Wawarsing Lodge representation was headed by Howard C. Anderson, master, and Fred A. Buellmann, Garry Brown, Carl A. Herndon, Edmund H. Zupp and Wallace C. Budd, past masters.

After the opening of the lodge and the invocation by the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, the officers and past masters were introduced by Charles F. Lebert. Arthur Lamb of Saugerties and a past district deputy grand master, then introduced the past grand lodge officers of the Greene-Ulster District. Those presented were Valentine Morrow of Maplecrest, Claude White of Prattville, Edward N. Henderson of Catskill, John F. Wadlin of Highland, Pearl H. Carey and Roger H. Loughran of Kingston, J. W. Feeter of Kingston, Charles Gregory of Rondout, and Samuel Stern of Rondout.

The present district grand master, Edwin B. Lutz of Prattville, was presented by Edward M. Henderson of Catskill and this presentation was followed by the introduction of Gay H. Brown of Utica, the speaker of the evening who was introduced by Roger H. Loughran.

After presentation of the colors by Allan Wood, assisted by Henry Darrow and R. Frederick Chidsey and the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the assembly joined in the singing of "America," led by Paul A. Zucca.

Historical Address

Philip A. Kearney then gave the following historical address:

"Free masonry was existent several years prior to the Revolutionary War. From the time of its organization down to the year 1777 when Kingston was burned by the British, masons held regular communications for work and instruction. It is presumed that the records were destroyed in the burning of the village.

"The first meeting place of a Masonic lodge here known as Livingston Lodge, No. 23, in the 1790's was the old Senate House. Bro. John Addison was the first master in 1790-92. In the minutes of 1799 we find a resolution asking the lodge to go into mourning for the death of Bro. George Washington. It is interesting to note that the lodge in the early days opened on the Entered Apprentice degree for work and instruction. Also they worked three degrees in the same evening on many occasions.

"On December 26, 1805, by resolution of the lodge the warrant under which the lodge was working was surrendered to the Grand Lodge, the cause of the action does not appear on the record.

Former Board Chairman of U.S. Steel, Head of United Mine Workers Discuss Situation Which Halts Flow of Fuel to Vital Steel Mills

Washington, Oct. 29 (P)—John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. and Myron C. Taylor of the steel industry met in a Mayflower Hotel room today, brought together in one more try to end the Captive coal mine strike which has stopped the flow of fuel to steel mills busy on the defense effort.

Taylor, former board chairman of U. S. Steel, and Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, met at President Roosevelt's suggestion. As they met, the White House still had received no reply to Mr. Roosevelt's third appeal to Lewis to halt the strike, Secretary Stephen Early said.

Early disclosed that Taylor, together with Chairman William H. Davis of the defense mediation board, discussed the situation with Mr. Roosevelt last night at the White House.

Today's meeting had a last-chance quality about it, for President Roosevelt was considering action and Congress, angry and impatient, seemed ready to take drastic steps of its own to eliminate time consuming industrial walkouts.

Hitler Entertains 2 Turk Generals To Display Gains

Fuehrer Tries to Impress Visitors and Show What They Could Do if Part of Axis

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT (Freeman Special News Service)

While Turkey celebrates the 18th anniversary of the republic, two Turk generals, ironically enough, have been visiting Adolf Hitler on the Russian front.

Turkish generals do not refuse invitations like these these days. But the Germans quite frankly say they "gave them an impressive picture of the achievements and successes of German troops and their allies." Then the Turkish generals, Ali Fuad Erden and Hussein Erkilet, had tea in Hitler's tent.

It is easy to imagine what the German fuehrer told them. For some days, the German high command has been shoving Rumanians, Italians and Hungarians into the bloody battle of South Russia, and giving them frequent pats on the back in the daily communiques. Rumanians were permitted to take most of the credit for the capture of Odessa, and thus Rumanian military pride was given a strong hypodermic. Italians arms got a much needed compliment for reported advances in the Donets basin; a few days later the Hungarians, in turn, were credited with helping out in the same area.

So, this was a fine time for Hitler.

Dispute Is Symbolic

In congressional eyes the captive mine dispute was rapidly becoming a symbol of the whole problem of work stoppages affecting defense, and the pressure for action increased with the overnight threat of a general strike of airplane factory workers in five eastern states.

The general strike threat arose from the protracted C. I. O. dispute with Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J. Richard Frankenstein, national director of the C. I. O. union involved, telegraphed President Roosevelt that unless the controversy could be settled by Thursday, he had no recourse but to use the economic strength of the union to protect its members.

The sole issue in the captive mines dispute was the United Mine Workers' demand for a union shop in the coal shafts which the steel companies operate to obtain fuel for their blast furnaces. Under a union shop provision, each employee would have to become a member of the union after a period of probation. The dispute directly affects 53,000 U. M. W. members whose strike became effective Monday in captive mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

What Heiselman Has Done for City's Youth

Supplementing the valuable work being done for youth by our religious and character-building organizations, Kingston's recreation department supplies an important link in Mayor Heiselman's youth and adult recreation programs.

Mayor Heiselman has recognized that today's streets, with fast moving motor traffic, are not safe places for children to play.

To keep children off unsafe streets, the Heiselman administration has eleven supervised playgrounds. There is one in every section of the city.

Thousands of children spend their summer vacations in these playgrounds where they are safe. Under competent supervision, they learn the rules of work and play and at the game of life.

Boys' clubs, the Saturday boys' program at the Municipal Auditorium, the girls' program at the Rensselaer Hotel, the youth program at the Downtown Youth Center, are all part of the youth program sponsored by the Heiselman administration.

With the assistance of the W. F. A., city-owned parks have been improved by the construction of pavilions, roller and ice skating rinks, handball and shuffleboard courts, wading pools, tennis courts, community night stages, picnic areas, floodlighted sled-runs and ski slopes, winter shelters, and the enlargement and improvement of park rest rooms.

The adult recreation program sponsored by the Heiselman administration includes softball leagues, basketball leagues, tennis, handball, picnicking and community night entertainments.

The splendidly floodlighted municipal stadium provides excellent and much appreciated opportunity for adult recreation at night baseball and football games.

Mayor Heiselman has repeatedly and truthfully stated that the youth of today are the citizens of tomorrow.

He has insisted that it is the duty of local government to do everything possible to encourage the building in our children of strong bodies, clean minds, character, self-discipline and good sportsmanship.

Not a child has been killed by a motor vehicle on the streets of Kingston in some years.

A smaller percentage of Kingston children have appeared in children's court during the past five years than in any other city of our size in the State of New York.

Mayor Heiselman's recreation program has saved lives, improved health and morale, reduced crime, and brought clean fun, enjoyment and relaxation to children and grown-ups alike during troublesome times when these things were needed most.

Mayor Heiselman's recreation program costs only about $6,000.00 a year.

Mayor Heiselman's recreation program costs little but pays big dividends in safety, character, health and citizenship.

Do you want this splendid program, initiated under Mayor Heiselman's administration, continued?

If so, vote for Mayor Heiselman on Election Day.

Red Radio Says Nazis Are Halted

Nazis Present Grave Threat Also on South Ukraine Front, Strive for Rostov

Mines Are Planted in Rostov to Trap Germans

(By The Associated Press)

German assault troops were reported gaining ground steadily late today in a break-through into the Crimea Peninsula—the scene of bloody conquests by Goths, Huns, Mongols and Turks for 1,700 years—while in the north, Russia's Red army were said to be counter-attacking fiercely in all main sectors around Moscow.

The Moscow radio said the Germans had been thrown back onto the defensive in the Kalinin sector, 95 miles northwest of the U. S. S. R. capital, where Nazi losses were placed at 5,000 men, 40 guns and 32 mortars.

Other Soviet counter-blows reported smashing at the Nazi siege armies around Mzhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, and Maloyaroslavl, 65 miles southwest.

The German break-through into the Crimea, site of Russia's big Black Sea naval base at Sevastopol, coincided with another grave Nazi threat on the southern (Ukraine) front, where Axis troops were reported storming at the gates of Rostov-on-Don.

Soviet dispatches said Red army engineers were already planting death-trap mines in Rostov, and preparing to leave the city of 500,000 a smoking ruin.

10 Miles From Port

The main German attacking column was said to be only 10 miles from the center of the big Don River port, which guards the northern approach to the Caucasus oil fields. In Berlin, Nazi military commentators said that once the city had fallen, the way would be open for swift armored divisions to strike south toward the nerve center of the oil region at Maikop, 175 miles below Rostov.

The Russian newspaper Pravda acknowledged "great danger" at Moscow, the Donets Basin, the Crimea and Rostov, but declared that Adolf Hitler's prediction of victory before winter had collapsed.

Pravda said the Nazi high command had thrown almost the entire German land army, artillery and tanks, and nine-tenths of the air force into the Russian campaign.

The enemy has not yet been halted. He is still pressing on despite heroic resistance and counter-attacks by the Red Army, which is strewing the route of advance of the Nazi troops with heaps of German corpses.

"Nevertheless, it is perfectly clear that no temporary successes can bring Germany her desired victory and peace."

Travelers arriving outside the U. S. S. R., from Kuibyshev, auxiliary Soviet capital, said the first 15 days of November would probably be the most crucial period in Russia's struggle.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters said that three German divisions—about 60,000 men—succeeded in breaking through Red army defenses into the Crimea after 10 days of hard fighting.

The reported break presumably occurred at the entrance to the Perekop Isthmus, a four-mile-wide bottleneck linking the Crimea and the U. S. S. R. mainland, which has been the scene of bitter fighting.

Nazi shock troops, attacking with strong aerial support, cracked the Soviet defenses and captured 15,700 prisoners, 13 tanks and 109 cannon, the German communique said.

"Pursuit of the defeated enemy has begun," it added.

Aside from the Sevastopol base, the Crimea is strategically important for two other reasons.

Its eastern extremity guards the narrow strait into the sea of Azov. Troops crossing the strait would have a short-cut route into the Caucasus.

No Disastrous Capture

Although Sevastopol is Russia's main naval base on the Black Sea, authoritative London quarters said its capture would not be disastrous.

Germans Face Enormous Task in Ukraine Wheat Area

Huge Breadbasket Found Empty; Nazi Problem Is to Get Soil Prepared for Crops

With the German army at Odessa, Oct. 21—(Delayed)—Adolf Hitler's farm experts, following hard on the heels of his invading army, already have begun the task of converting to German use the huge Ukrainian farm-lands west of the Dnieper river—but from present indications Europe's so-called "breadbasket" will be empty this winter.

In normal times this conquered area, roughly half the size of Texas, produced millions of tons of wheat annually, much of which found an outlet through Odessa.

In the aftermath of war, however, the bulk of the wheat acreage is lying idle and not even a fishing smack is navigating out of this once-busy Black sea port.

Midway in a 2,500-mile tour of the area between Kiev and Odessa it becomes obvious that ler to tell the Turkish military men: "See—look what you could do if you were with us!"

Could Be of Great Value

Turkey's two million bayonets could be of extreme value henceforth to the German army, which is occupied now from Murmansk to the Black Sea. The Germans are knocking at the gates of Rostov-on-Don, a key to the north Caucasus—a point from which Hitler's armies might plunge toward the Caspian Sea, 450 miles to the east, or execute sharp right turn and make for the oil properties at the Black Sea end of the Caucasian Mountains. Another force, from which it could pass south of the Sea of Azov across the Straits of Kerch and enter the same oil-lands.

A Turkish thrust into Georgia would put a tremendous squeeze on the natural defenses of the Caucasus; a Turkish lunge into the Russian forces now manning the Iranian-Turkish border would disrupt any plans of Britain and Russia for defense of the Caucasus by a joint British-Russian force; it would delay if not wreck the system which is being set up to get supplies to Russia via Iran.

Any such Turkish-German military cooperation would bring much closer the day when Hitler's armies could swing in force through Asiatic Turkey and into Syria, in a scythe-like advance on Suez.

On the Turkish side, there is the unhappy memory of the Caucasian campaign of the last war, the un-avenged defeats of the old Turkish army at the hands of the Russians in bitter winter campaigning, and the fact that the last peace deprived Turkey of such rich territorial prizes as the Russian oil port of Batum.

All this is perhaps premature and some of it even imaginative, since Turkey still has, on paper, a mutual assistance alliance with Britain, and the British say—publicly at least—that they expect the Turks to stay friendly.

But Turkey has also a new friendship pact with Germany, conclusion of which barely preceded the German offensive on Russia, and there is no doubt but that Hitler has chosen this time to begin preliminary moves to get Turkey into an actual military alliance. This much was in the wind even before the Turkish generals showed up, and there is good reason to believe it was talked about at Count Ciano's latest conference at the headquarters of the German fuhrer.

to the Soviet fleet. Base facilities could be transferred across the sea to Batumi or Novorossisk, on the Caucasian mainland.

At sea, Hitler's high command credited Nazi U-boats with sinking 14 ships totalling 47,000 tons in a six-day pursuit of a convoy traveling from Gibraltar to England.

An escorting British destroyer was also torpedoed and sunk, the high command said, and almost the entire convoy was wiped out.

On the bloody front before Moscow, the Russians acknowledged the development of a menacing new thrust by the Germans to the vicinity of Volokolamsk, 72 miles northwest of the Soviet capital, about midway between Mzhaisk and Kalinin.

Soviet front-line reports, however, declared that the Germans had lost 60 per cent of their effectiveness in the past few days of savage fighting around Moscow and that it had become apparent the invaders would not take the city.

A Red army bulletin said Gen. Gregory H. Zhukov's defense forces, under no-retreat orders, had recaptured four villages northwest of Moscow.

Throughout the night, the Soviet communiqué said, fighting raged in the familiar regions of Mzhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow; Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest, and the new sector of Volokolamsk.

Bad weather conditions continued to hamper the movement of troops and vehicles struggling over mud-bogged roads and fields.

German military reports conceded that the Russians were launching strong counter-attacks, especially in the Kalinin sector, but withheld details.

Aerial activity surged to peak violence over the snow-covered battlefield, with Nazi bombers heavily attacking industries and supply lines in Moscow itself while Soviet warplanes struck back at German troops in the field.

A Russian communiqué said a single Red air unit in three days had destroyed 27 Nazi tanks, 135 ammunition trucks and a large ammunition dump.

"Nearly one and a half battalions of enemy infantry were annihilated by bombs and machine-gun fire," the communiqué said.

Woman Is Hurt When Auto Rolls

Mrs. Otto Grossman of Shokan was injured shortly before 11 o'clock this morning in a rather unusual manner. Mrs. Grossman was assisting her husband in getting a car from the garage. There apparently was a block of wood under the rear wheel of the car and when it was removed the car rolled back and struck Mrs. Grossman.

State Trooper Ray Dunn was notified and made an investigation of the accident but was unable to ascertain just how it happened or the extent of Mrs. Grossman's injuries. She was brought to the Kingston Hospital by the Conner Ambulance Service and X-rays were being taken this afternoon to determine the extent of the injuries. Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock was the attending physician.

From what could be ascertained Mrs. Grossman was struck down by the car and the rear wheels passed over her. She suffered injuries to her face where the differential of the car apparently struck her as it rolled backward.

At the hospital X-rays were being taken and the extent of her injuries were not known at the time The Freeman went to press.

Fire Damages Building On East Union Street

A two-story frame structure at 22 East Union street was damaged by a fire which started at about 9 o'clock last night in the cellar of the building under the part occupied by Cappy's Meat Market. The building is owned by Mrs. Ida Siller and its second-floor apartment is occupied by Casper Zwickman.

According to the official report of the local fire department, the fire started in some kindling which had been left in the cellar near the furnace. It made its way along the coal bin and up through the floor timbers, spreading between the inner and outer wall structure where it was checked before spreading dangerously to the rest of the building.

Confinement of the fire to a small area prevented costly damage and the blaze was extinguished shortly after the arrival of the firemen. Equipment from Central, Cornell, Rapid and Union stations responded to an alarm from box 212. The extra trucks arrived at the fire after the number sounded three times due to the confusion of the person who rang in the alarm.

The firemen were called out again at 10:50 o'clock this morning to check another fire on the Sterling street dump.

London Has Fun Again, Because Air Raids Have Ceased

London, Oct. 29 (AP)—Prolonged freedom from terrifying night raids is giving London a new jauntiness.

At the outset of the fourth month without an air-raid alarm, a large part of the population is out to make the most of the respite and have some fun.

Theatres and motion picture houses, operating until 9:30 or 10 p. m., in many instances, draw large crowds.

It is not so easy as it was to get hard liquor—but patrons often stand four-deep in saloons, clubs and at hotel bars.

If the lights were turned on suddenly on certain nights along Piccadilly, in Leicester Square, along Regent street or even the Strand, you might think you were in Chicago's Loop, for instance, during a heavy convention season.

Yet less than a year ago in these very districts bomb after bomb fell for nights in a row.

The difference in the story now is reflected in the shrinkage of the shelter population.

Those regularly sleeping in bunks in subway stations totaled 70,000 at the peak of the raids last spring; now the number is only 28,000.

When the raids were heavy, between 2,800 and 3,000 persons stayed nightly in the large west end subway stations. The average now is 600.

Despite repeated sharply-worded warnings by the government and the press, thousands of evacuees have returned to London.

The number of school children in the capital in 1940 was 225,000. At the outset of 1941 the number had been reduced to 80,000. The present number is 138,000.

These figures compare with a peace-time figure for the country of London of 450,000.

5,548,694 Voters

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—New York has 5,548,694 voters qualified to ballot in the November 4 election, a gain of 17,181 from 1937, the last comparable year, but 1,420,016 under 1940's presidential year total. Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh's official figures give the 1937 count as 5,531,513 and 1940 as 6,968,710.

A. D. Kniffin Well Fitted For Welfare Commissioner

Albert D. Kniffin, the Republican candidate for Commissioner of Public Welfare is a lifelong resident of Ulster county. He was born at Marlborough in the year 1887.

He attended the Marlborough public schools and is a graduate of the Eastman Business College in Poughkeepsie.

As a young man he was employed by the Central Hudson Steamboat Company from 1904 to 1923. He served as clerk and purser between New York city and Albany on many of the steamboats and at the time he severed connections with the company he was purser on the steamer Benjamin E. O'Dell. During these years Mr. Kniffin made many friends and was well known in the Towns of Ulster county along the Hudson river and the people of Rondout and Kingston.

Mr. Kniffin was at one time connected with the Sundstrom Motor Company of Marlborough and during the past seven years he has operated a successful meat market at Marlborough and has also owned and operated a large fruit farm.

ALBERT D. KNIFFIN

He is engaged in both of these businesses at the present time.

"Bert" first entered politics in 1931 when he was appointed by the Town Board of Marlborough to fill a vacancy in the office of Town Clerk. He was twice elected to that office with ever increasing majorities and in 1937 he was chosen by his friends to be the Republican candidate for Supervisor. He succeeded in unseating the then Democrat supervisor, and when he ran again in 1939 he received the largest majority to be given to a Republican candidate for that office in recent years. His administration of town affairs has been a credit to himself and to the people of the Town of Marlborough who placed him in office.

Mr. Kniffin is well fitted for the office which he now seeks. As Town Clerk and Supervisor he has become familiar with the administration of the Public Welfare Law in Ulster county. The duties of County Commissioner of Public Welfare require a knowledge of office and clerical work for which Mr. Kniffin's business education has fitted him. The operation of the County Farm requires a knowledge of farming and "Bert" has successfully operated his own farm for many years. Possessed of a friendly disposition toward everyone and a kind and warm heart, Bert is certain to understand the problems of those requiring assistance and give every consideration to their needs.

Bert is obviously the candidate better fitted to conscientiously and fairly administer the Public Welfare Department of our County, on a sound business basis.

Just a memory fond and true,

And a heartache still of you,
Just a sigh for the olden moments,
Just a smile of love again,
Just a tear in silence falling
And a yearning, dear, for you,
LOVING WIFE.

In loving memory of Harold Johnson, who passed away two years ago today, October 29, 1939. It's loneliness here without you,
And sad and weary the way;

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The stock market remained shackled by indecision today and price variations were narrow and somewhat uneven in most departments.

A few aircrafts, coppers and industrial specialties had enough support to push ahead fractions to around a point. Steels and motors were backward, but in all losing groups declines were of minor limits near the final hour. Turnover was at the rate of around 500,000 shares.

Although the market's performance was uninspiring, analysts derived from it comfort of a negative sort in the absence of selling of any consequence. Gossip in brokerage circles indicated some potential buyers were just standing by until the troublesome labor situation, including the steel companies' captive coal mines strike, cleared up.

Among stocks edging toward improvement at times were U. S. Steel, Republic, Boeing, Sperry, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, Eastman and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Inclined to dip occasionally were Sears Roebuck, American Tobacco "B," Johns-Manville, Western Union, United Gas Improvement, and U. S. Gypsum, the last named recording a 1941 low. Also in loss territory for the year was Homestake Mining.

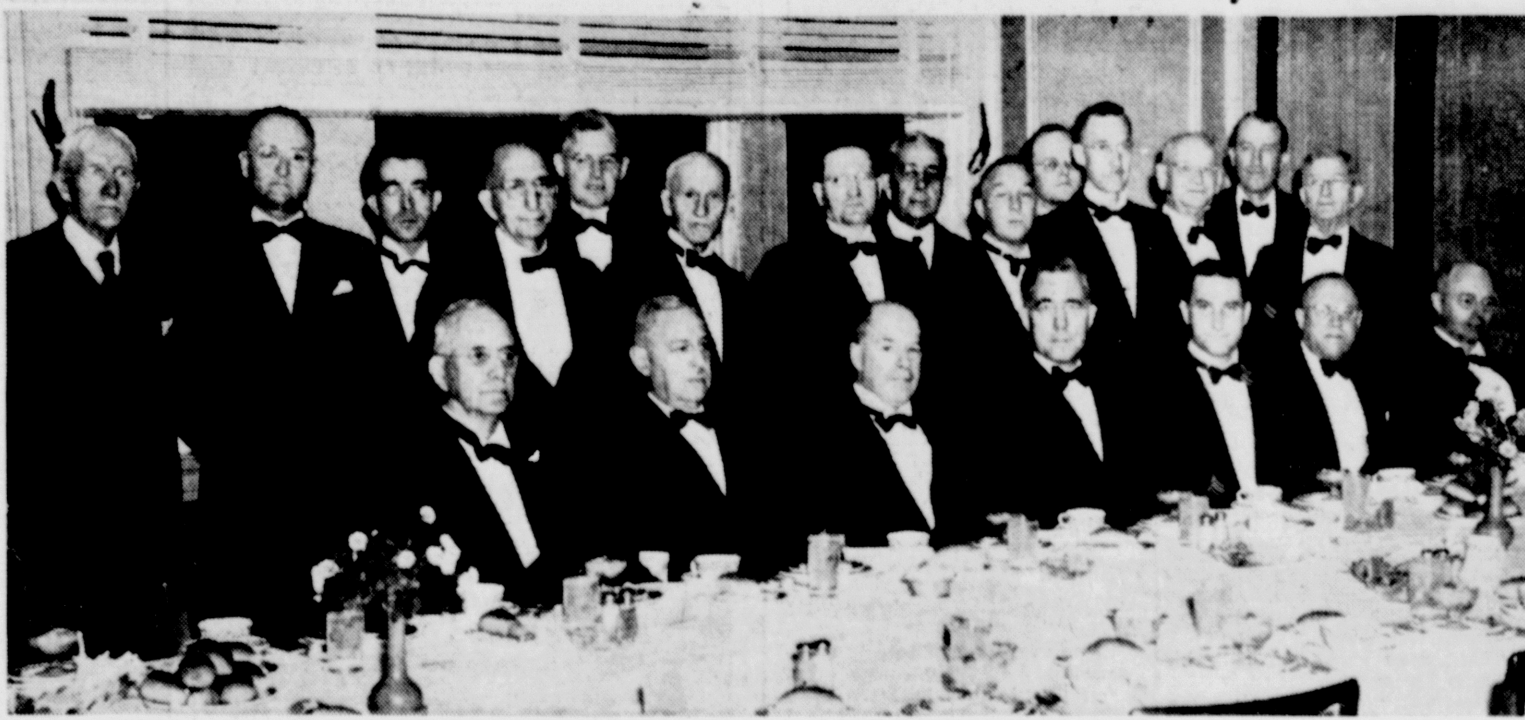

Commodities were generally higher and bonds were uneven.

Masons Observe 150th Anniversary Of Lodge No. 10

its years the lodge was visited by the Clintons, Livingstons, Van Burens and other men not only high in Masonry but in state and nation. From December 26, 1805, August 28, 1806, there has been no regularly constituted lodge of working Masons in Kingston.

"On August 29, several officers of the Grand Lodge assembled at the house of Evert Bogardus in Kingston Lodge, No. 23. At that time the Hon. DeWitt Clinton was grand master and he deputized Philo Ruggles, Esq., of Poughkeepsie to assist upon the occasion in his stead. A room in the old court house was secured as a meeting place and the brethren held communications every full moon.

December 1, 1821, the lodge granted consent to establish a lodge at Marlborough to be known as Rising Sun Lodge, No. 336. June 24, 1822 members of Kingston Lodge changed from 23 to 20.

Welcomes General Lafayette
September 16, 1824, Kingston Lodge was invited by Widows Son Lodge at Red Hook to welcome General Lafayette and on the 17th several brothers did attend.

November 26, 1826, the lodge took part in canal completion celebration of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company by laying the capstone in due Masonic form.

Regular communications were held until March 20, 1829 when for some cause the body ceased to work regularly. Occasional meetings were held at intervals until December 26, 1833.

St. John the Baptist day in June and St. John the Evangelist in December were observed regularly by the lodge with suitable speeches and was usually held in the Reformed Dutch Church.

Ulster Lodge, No. 193, Saugerties, N. Y., was instituted on November 13, 1850. Grand Lodge renewed the Charter and the number was changed from 20 to 10. The old room in the court house was procured, furniture provided, the jewels being loaned by Rising Sun Lodge, No. 336, until 1852, when the lodge procured their own.

February, 1853, new rooms were secured in the J. O. Merritt, Brodhead & Company building, third floor. (Flanagans' stands on the site).

May 9, 1854, Roundout Lodge, No. 343, was instituted, consent being asked and granted by Kingston Lodge.

June 19, 1855, application was made and consent given to institute Margaretville Lodge, No. 389.

May, 1864, the lodge moved to the State of New York Bank building.

June 21, 1864, consent was asked and granted to Littleton, Wawarsing Lodge, No. 582, at Ellenville.

In 1870, Kingston Lodge was moved into the rooms in the Ulster County Savings Institution building which was our lodge home for 69 years. On June 13, 1939, we moved to the present location in the rooms and when the gavel found again on September 12, found us here in our new temple.

Visitors Are Welcomed

Following the historical sketch there was an instrumental selection under the direction of Roger Baer and the master of the lodge, Frank Buchholtz, next welcomed the visitors and then introduced Gay H. Brown, who is at present senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York.

Mr. Brown, who resides at Utica, for several years has held the position of counsel to the New York State Public Service Commission at Albany. In his address, Mr. Brown stressed the need today of the development of character and its influence on world affairs.

The ceremonies were brought to a close with the benediction by Eugene Morehouse of Hurley, chaplain of Kingston Lodge, and at the conclusion of the exercise refreshments were served in the banquet hall. The attendance was so large that all of the visitors could not be accommodated in the lodge room and a loud speaker system was provided to carry the program to adjacent rooms.

The committee in charge of the anniversary program were: General chairman, Roger H. Loughran; invitation committee, Ernest W. Kearney; program committee, Robert H. Hawksley, and ushers

Washington, Oct. 29—Senator Nye (R-N. D.) asserted today that enactment of neutrality revision legislation would "invite attack by sending merchant ships, armed with sling-shots against torpedoes, straight into a submarine blockade."

"Let our object be...

And by the blessing of God, may that country itself become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of WISDOM and PEACE, and of Liberty, upon which the world may gaze with admiration FOREVER!"

"I want this photograph of my soldier husband enlarged," said Mrs. Huggins to the photographer. "Now, can you do it with his hat off?"

The photographer studied the portrait and said: "I think I can take the hair. By the way, on which side does he part it?"
"Oh, I just can't remember," replied the woman, "but you'll be able to see that when you take his hat off."

REFORM. Most of us believe that the world is in need of reform, and a lot of us even go a step farther and attempt to reform others. Instead of grieving over the mistakes and vices of others, it is better to pay attention to the one person most in need of reform—yourself.

Chapter 14

Colonel Moore Again

"LET'S not talk about Belle Acres," Johnny said briefly. "Let's talk about us. I came to see you—I've missed you. I saw my father in Washington and told him that I could understand his infatuation for the southern girl he met abroad. He had better luck—his girl was not engaged to marry another man."

"Nevertheless he lost her," Sue Ellen reminded him. She pulled off her soft felt hat and tossed back her curls.

"She never forgot me—your Aunt Carolina told me that. She confessed that she made a mistake when she didn't follow her heart."

"I'm following mine."

He smiled slightly and leaned forward with his steady eyes bent upon her rebellious face. "Are you sure?"

"Quite."

"That may make things a bit difficult for me."

"That will make 'things,' as you call them, quite impossible for you."

The speech sounded rude, she hadn't intended that and she added quickly: "I don't mean to be rude, but I am engaged, you know." She floundered helplessly and Johnny continued to gaze at her with a maddening intensity which made her furious.

His cool determination to make her care for him inspired of Riv— in spite of her engagement to Riv— bewildered her always and today for the first time it did something else. It shook her belief in her prospective marriage. It threatened her faith in Riv, and yes, roused the belief that she might be influenced to care for this man if he persisted in his loving.

Fortunately Aunt Car and Aunt Pleas appeared with the tea. She tried to make an excuse and slip away, but a glance from Aunt Car forced her to wait and sit nervously sipping tea and crumbling biscuit, while Johnny Harris displayed a side of his personality quite unknown to her. He could be as gracious and charming as Riv. Moreover, he lacked Riv's moodiness which made him by turns irresistible or downright irritating.

Johnny's grey eyes could gleam like steel or grow soft with tender feeling. His face could show impassive indifference one moment and the next be swept by a storm of emotion.

He was dangerous and she would not see him again.

"I'm sorry, but my letter must be written." She arose and set her cup down on the table beside her, gathered up her hat and gloves from the chair where she had tossed them. "You'll be going back to Camp Shelby?" she asked indifferently.

Johnny Harris arose and said: "This evening I expect to be at Camp Shelby for a month or two, and that will suit my plan, for I have business interests in and about Tyler Springs. Can you tell me whether Colonel Moore is in town?"

Aunt Car said: "I was in his office this morning and his secretary told me that she expected him tomorrow morning."

Johnny thanked both aunts for the tea, turned to Sue Ellen and said: "I wish I could stay, but I have an engagement this evening."

He stopped abruptly and left almost immediately.

"He's Deedora's latest," Sue Ellen told Aunt Car scornfully as they sat at the dinner table later. "Ginny Fairchild told me."

"Ginny talks too much," said Aunt Car indignantly, and Aunt Pleas nodded her head in affirmation.

Good News

AUNT PLEAS said: "I saw the Waller girl down in the village this morning and she looked positively dissipated."

"Probably Johnny Harris likes that type." Something crept into Sue Ellen's tone which made Aunt Carolina raise her eyebrows, then she smiled and suggested: "I can think of other topics more interesting than discussing Yankees who take advantage of our bad luck to pick up old plantations. I wonder if you know why I wanted to make that trip to Belle Acres, Sue Ellen?"

"Sentimental reasons, I suppose," she said indifferently.

The fact that Johnny might be interested in Deedora Waller should mean nothing to her. Oddly, it did. The mention of their names together gave her a queer sense of irritation. She only half listened while Aunt Car talked about the various improvements necessary to make Belle Acres a livable condition. Of money which could be raised by government loans. She felt wretched and despondent.

She was brought back to her surroundings by a direct question from Aunt Car, who spoke twice before she answered.

"Yes, Aunt Car."

"I have some good news," Aunt Car smiled at her, her eyes bright and eager.

Sue Ellen shrugged. "I could use good news."

"Today I received a letter concerning an investment which hasn't paid in years," went on Aunt Car. "The letter enclosed a check which will be quite enough to pay the interest on the Belle Acres mortgage."

"That's great!"

"Catskill is the first Community to report in that they have gone over their objective or goal. They have reported $812.51 on an objective of $800, and the Chairman

Ward Kreag has assured the office that they will have further returns and he is hopeful that they may be able to make it $850 before completion of the drive.

Saugerties, Highland, Milton, Marlborough, Wallkill, are some of the communities who have reported that so far that they are ahead of last year and when the final returns are in they expected to go over their objectives. This all sounds good and Dr. Keator and George Matthews working as the clean-up squad for Kingston are bringing their total to last year's final.

No Business.

Lockport, N. Y. (AP)—For 19 years a regular session of the Lockport federal court has been scheduled, but you would have to be quick to get in on the session. No cases are assigned and the session rarely lasts longer than one minute.

"Aunt Car—how wonderful!" For the moment she forgot Riv and the complication of her love affair.

"I deposited the check and went to see Colonel Moore, but his secretary told me he would not be back in Tyler Springs until tomorrow. He promised to wait until January to redeem that mortgage. I talked to the banker and I think I can manage it."

Aunt Car was quite breathless as she paused.

"I knew, but we planned to surprise you," said Aunt Pleas from across the table.

"You dear!" Sue Ellen reached out and caught Aunt Car's thin, blue-veined hand.

"You have looked so disturbed and unhappy lately and we could not understand it, unless you were worried about Belle Acres."

"I was."

"Now it will be all yours some day."

"It will be yours," said Sue Ellen firmly. "I have no need of it. Riv is determined that we shall live in Washington. He says that he hates Tyler Springs. Of course," she added hastily, "I've wanted to live here always. I love everything about Belle Acres. But I'm growing up now. What I must do is what Riv wants to do, because he'll be my husband. We plan to marry as soon as possible—maybe at New Year's."

"New Year's!"

She elaborated on the idea, as she saw how pleased they were. She promised to come back and help them with the planning and remodeling of Belle Acres, when the loan was assured. She tried to conceal her own unreasonable depression this evening, by a mock gaiety which deceived the aunts, while all the time her heart was a turmoil of bitterness as she remembered Ginny's words: "You fool!" What had Ginny meant?

Before she left the dinner table she remembered something "Who tore down part of the Belle Acres stables?" she asked idly.

"Tramps, maybe," offered Aunt Pleas.

"When I pay the interest, I'll speak to Colonel Moore about it," said Aunt Car. "What are you planning to do this evening, Sue Ellen?"

"I'm going to write a letter to Riv and take it down to the train to mail it."

Miss Fix-It

SHE wrote the letter and decided that a walk to the train would clear her head. As she passed the Fairchild home, she saw Ginny sitting in the front room.

"You fool!" What had Ginny meant when she said that? This afternoon she had been determined never to mention her affairs in Ginny's presence. Now the temptation to know, to actually know why Ginny had made that impulsive remark, obsessed Sue Ellen. She turned into the gate, mounted the porch and rang the bell.

Ginny looked uneasy when she opened the door. "Hello," she said nervously.

"I want to talk to you, Ginny."

"Mamma's in the living room. I'll get my coat and walk downtown with you."

By the time Ginny came out, Sue Ellen's resolution had cooled, but Ginny said: "What's wrong? You frightened me when I opened the door and saw you. You looked positively ghastly. Sue, has anything happened?"

She managed a laugh. "I'm a fool—just as you said, Ginny. You upset me terribly this afternoon and I made up my mind that the best thing to do was to ask you directly why you said that. Why am I a fool, Ginny?"

"I shouldn't have said that," confessed Ginny. "It just slipped out. I'm an awful gossip. I resolve to listen to everything I hear and vow never to repeat a word, and then the temptation's just too much for me. I just can't mind my own business. I rush in and try to be Miss Fix-It, and half the time make a muddle of things. That's what Toby tells me; he hates gossip. Think no more of it, Sue, I apologize if I made you unhappy."

Sue Ellen said bluntly: "There's something I should know. I'm convinced that whatever you know, others must know and it may be a lie which will wreck my happiness and make my marriage with Riv a failure. If it's the fact that Riv has had flirtations, I know that I take the chance he'll do it again. I marry him. It shows a weak streak in Riv—does it not?"

I have a feeling that there is something else. Does it concern Riv and a girl?" she demanded.

Ginny pressed her lips firmly together and made no answer.

"Does it concern Riv and the major's story?" insisted Sue Ellen. Ginny nodded.

Sue Ellen breathed a sigh of relief. "Well, I know all about that. I may as well tell you that the major did see Riv at White Sulphur with a girl. I have no right, nor do I want, to know the name of the girl who was with him. She means nothing to Riv now—means less to me."

Ginny said flatly: "I had no right to hint anything to you in the beginning, Sue. Toby was right. Some day I'll land in plenty of trouble with my tattling."

Dangerous
Pittsburgh—Speeding 75 miles an hour to investigate a report about "a man with a gun," Police Lieut. Arthur Baker was astounded when another car whizzed past him.

"I forgot the man with the gun and nabbed the man in the car," Baker explained to a judge. "I thought he was more dangerous."

The motorist, a young fellow without a driver's license, drew six months in jail.

Fatal
Chicago—Gloria Graco, 14, was walking through a high school corridor when she was hit in the mouth by a boy carelessly swinging his arms.

Her lip was cut and an infection developed. She died two weeks later.

Wrong Course
Philadelphia—Kappa Sigma fraternity members almost were convinced that a youth apprehended in their house before dawn was an engineering student, as he claimed, at nearby Drexel Institute, who was looking for a friend. Then someone asked: "Have you got to turbines yet in your course?"

"Turbines?" came the reply. "What would an engineer be doing with women's hats?"

Magistrate John Morloch ordered him held in $1,000 bail for further hearing.

Mechanized Rodeo
Moberly, Mo.—The first nippy morning of the season found Charley Hopson pushing his car to get it started.

It started, all right, and headed for a fence. He dashed around in front to stop it.

Friends, attracted by his shouts, pried him out of the fence several minutes later, shaken but uninjured.

But They're the Prettiest
Hays, Kas.—Men are just smarter than women, says Dr. H. B. Reed, psychologist at Fort Hays Teachers College.

Tests given to students showed males to be superior in the fields of sports, commerce, government, and physical science and on a par with the ladies in mathematics and biology.

Women excelled only in human relations and fine arts.

Last year's marriage rate in England was the highest in its history.

Auxiliary to Have Membership Drive

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary was held Tuesday afternoon, October 28, in the nurses home with the president, Mrs. Frederick Snyder, presiding. At this meeting it was decided to start a membership drive. This drive is to begin immediately.

It is necessary that the membership be increased in order to carry on the work as the auxiliary has in the past and also to prepare to do more in adding to the patients' comfort and in bringing cheer to the unfortunate ones who are hospitalized. Without the support of members this becomes a difficult task.

All members are invited to attend the meetings and bring a friend who may become interested in the functions of the auxiliary. The monthly meetings are held the last Tuesday of each month at 2:30 p. m. at the nurses home on Broadway.

Plans are being formulated for the annual pre-Lenten dance. Following the adjournment of the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments appropriate to Halloween were served by Miss Jessie P. Allan and Miss Almira A. Porter.

Lowell Club Hears Papers On Argentina and Buenos Aires

Mrs. John D. Groves was hostess yesterday at her home in West Hurley to the Lowell Club. The meeting was opened with a short business session with Mrs. J. A. Guttridge, president, presiding.

The paper for the day was prepared and read by Mrs. Rose K. Witter in the absence of Mrs. M. S. Conklin. The topic was the country of Argentina and Mrs. Witter told of the development of the country. The Spaniards were the first to raise cattle on the pampas and today the land is covered with large ranches for this is one of the main industries of Argentina. The long rich grass of the ranges is particularly suited to cattle raising.

Mrs. Witter also spoke of the mining and wheat raising. There are few trees in the country most of which have been imported and are used around the houses for windbreakers. Most of the traveling is done by railroad or airplane since there are few roads.

The second part of the program was a sketch of the city of Buenos Aires as prepared by Mrs. E. L. Howe and read by Mrs. Guttridge. It described the city and explained how it has become one of the largest inland ports in the world situated on the LaPlatte river.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Gilt Book of Social Usage," etc.)

HOW MANY KINDS OF HORS D'OEUVRES SHOULD A PERSON TAKE?

A restaurant table-manners question that brings uncertainty to many, is the presentation of a table on wheels spread with a dozen or more hors d'oeuvres. A reader asks me, "Am I supposed to take as many kinds as I like, or should I choose just one, or perhaps two at the most?"

My answer is that you can take a sample amount of a half a dozen of them, or a greater amount of two of them. In other words, you take the stuffed half of an egg, one slice of tomato, one sardine, one slice of smoked salmon, one fragment of cauliflower—or you take two slices of salmon and two pieces of egg, and another item, making about five small pieces in all. If the items are big you take less. If they are very small you take more.

Hors d'oeuvres, on the other hand, the hors d'oeuvres, known as Smorgasbord, are the rich and plentiful dishes which comprise the very substantial first course, and you eat as much of these as will satisfy your appetite! (Quite likely you eat nothing more!)

The Cost of A Christening

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it customary to give the clergyman a sum of money for baptizing a baby, and if so, how much? And would this same answer apply if one's own clergyman were on a vacation and there was a temporary clergyman?

Answer: In the Protestant churches, no fee is exacted, but those who want to do so, give the clergyman whatever they see fit to pay. It is your own clergyman or the one taking his place, the payment would be the same.

Ending A Visit

Dear Mrs. Post: When one is invited to spend ten days longer with people one does not know well and in whose house one has never stayed, and after a few days one finds the situation very unhappy which results in perfect misery and homesickness, how can one possibly get away without hurting the feelings of those who mean to be kind? Remember that the invitation was for a definite time and had been accepted!

Answer: It is perhaps a very bad plan to print this, but it just happens to awaken a memory of my own childhood, when I was sent to visit relatives whom I had never seen, and had a frightful attack of homesickness. They were very kind to me and fed me soda mint tablets, but I was so unhappy that one morning I escaped to the village and sent a telegram to an aunt in Baltimore about fifty miles away. "I'm here at Cousin Louisa's. Please come take me away. If you don't I'm going to train." What excuse she gave, I never knew, but it all ended happily.

Miss Virginia Coutant of Creek Locks, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Coutant, was married to Warren Prandoni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Prandoni of Jersey city, Sunday, October 19, at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale by the Rev. W. J. McDonald.

Given in marriage by her brother, James Coutant, the bride wore a white satin princess style gown with pearl trim neckline, train and finger tip veil draped from a head piece of satin flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath. The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Bordenstein. She wore a blue taffeta gown, hoop skirt style, trimmed with blue velvet and a blue velvet poke bonnet. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Mrs. Warren Dunn, sister of the bridegroom, and bridesmaid, wore a gown similar to the matron of honor's gown. Best man for the bridegroom was Jack Hurley and the usher was Warren Dunn.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Maple Hill Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Prandoni left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and the southern states. Upon their return they will reside at a newly furnished apartment, Palisade avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

Honey a Favorite Food Since Ancient Times

Honey, most delicious of all sweets, ranks as one of our most wholesome foods.

In addition to being the "dew distilled from the stars and the rain-book" as one Greek philosopher claimed, honey is a fuel-producing food which furnishes energy to the system rather than flesh and bone. It is second only to dates in energy value, and ranks far above steak, fish, potatoes or bread in this respect.

The United States department of agriculture, in a release entitled "Honey High in Food Value," stated:

"Honey is one of the best of the high energy producing foods. Because it is composed almost entirely of simple sugars, it can be assimilated with ease. Most sugars require action by the gastric and intestinal secretions to break them down into simple sugars similar to those occurring naturally in honey."

"Because it is easily assimilated, honey is of importance where normal digestive activities have been impaired by disease or old age. Honey can be utilized by the body without placing much of a burden on an enfeebled digestive tract and is also recognized as a valuable food for babies and young children."

Red Cross Keeps Busy Aiding Men Now in Service

As the only outside agency authorized to conduct day-to-day services within the confines of Army and Navy training stations, the American Red Cross is in the midst of its busiest year since the first World War.

In military and naval stations, the Red Cross is concerned with the personal problems of the service man, helping him adjust himself to military life. For the disabled, the Red Cross is on the job in service hospitals, helping to speed recovery of the sick through a morale-building program. In mobilizing a 2,000,000-man fighting force, the personal problems of the able-bodied man in uniform have in turn become problems of the morale divisions. Red Cross field directors stationed in all camps and reservations have been entrusted with the task of helping solve these problems. The disabled man in a service hospital also can look to the Red Cross for help in speeding recovery. Medical-social workers, trained for their specialized assignment, are on duty at Army and Navy general hospitals to aid service physicians, to act as a medium of communication with the families of hospitalized men and to conduct recreational programs for convalescents.

Volunteers, familiarly known as "Gray Ladies," come from nearby chapters to write letters and perform scores of "little things" which smooth the way toward recovery. The Red Cross provides recreational service for patients in all Army and Navy hospitals. Sixty-five new hospitals are under construction by the Army, and their recreation buildings are being equipped and staffed by the Red Cross as each one opens.

As part of the Army and Navy safety program, members of the national Red Cross staff are qualifying service personnel as instructors in First Aid and Water Safety. Instructors taught by the Red Cross in turn conduct classes on the reservations.

The number of Army and Navy personnel and their families assisted by Red Cross field directors has increased in volume 140 per cent since Selective Service has been in operation. During the past year 126,515 active service men have been aided in the camps.

South Carolina Gets Results by Teaching Rural Families Old-Fashioned Methods

AP Feature Service

Clemson, S. C. — South Carolina is turning back the pages a hundred years and more in order to progress toward a state of self-sufficiency which, if it won't put a chicken in every pot, may at least raise the standard of living among thousands of farm families. The state's Better Farm Living Program has been in the works since 1938 without a great deal of outside fanfare. Results became notable this year when 22,075 farm families, which in 1940 grew less than half enough foodstuffs for their own consumption, agreed to increase production.

No small part of the project has been the effort this year to convert every South Carolina farmer's kitchen into a miniature grist mill. And that brings into the picture D. W. Watkins, director, and C. V. Phagan, agricultural engineer, of the Clemson agricultural college extension service.

Watkins gives Phagan credit for suggesting the idea of milling with small hand or power driven mills, but the two have been equally active in their promotion of the idea. "Milling at home," says Phagan, "permits a family to take a bushel of wheat and convert it into 50 pounds of whole wheat flour plus ten pounds of bran."

The theme has been broadcast through county home agents, a special demonstration train which visited 45 communities, pamphlets, and other media. County and home demonstration agents have been showing methods for the preparation of nutritious whole wheat flour, corn meal and grits. Each county agent's office has one of the small hand mills, which retail for around $3. Mills suitable for operation with a quarter-horsepower electric motor cost $10 to $12, without the motor, and grind wheat for a cent or two a bushel.

Parentetically, it is brought out by Martha W. Buttrill, extension nutritionist of Winthrop college, that flours, meals and other grain products are cheap sources of calories, proteins and iron.

"The less highly the grain is milled or refined," she says, "the more it contributes in minerals and vitamins." Phagan says that "from a strictly monetary standpoint, milling at home is profitable even if it is necessary to buy the grain. On the average, commercial breakfast foods sell for around 12 to 15 cents a pound. By home grinding of wheat and corn for cereal the average cost will be less than two cents a pound."

Although the far-sighted South Carolina Better Living Program began before the war, it has re-ing" way show good results when machines are light gray and areas around them are a contrasting light buff. The whole thing means fewer accidents and more production, according to engineers.

DEAR MOMMY:

I just told my Health Teacher you served Bobby and me LaChoy Chow Mein for lunch once a week. She said you are smart. She said Chinese foods are good for growing boys and girls; they contain the right minerals and vitamins for strong, healthy bodies. She says LaChoy has a free recipe booklet for other nourishing dishes—you can write LaChoy, Dept. N, Detroit, for it. Can we have Chow Mein tomorrow noon? I like it!

—Adv.

ceived impetus by reduction in cotton and tobacco exports. Many South Carolina farm families have been forced to lower their standard of living. Thus the effort to diversify farming and find more cash crops.

One result was that in June farmers harvested what Watkins says probably was the largest wheat crop in the state's history. Planting of corn, he adds, was increased by 33,645 acres over 1940, and there were upturns in plantings of potatoes, home gardens, sorghum, sugar cane, tree seedlings, hay and forage.

More livestock and poultry was raised by small-scale farmers, and more attention was paid to dairying and home churning of butter.

In advocating diversification, Watkins has steered clear of the spectacular. "Most of our successful money making enterprises," he says, "consist of things which already were familiar to us but had not been handled expertly."

Stahl and Boice Are Both Question Marks as to Starting Circuit Game Saturday

Coach Tommy Weems' Kingston High School football gridders will try to snap their three-game losing streak next Saturday afternoon in Port Jervis. It is Kingston's second DUSO League encounter of the season.

Kingston hasn't tasted victory since its first game of the year against Amsterdam. Since that contest under the stadium lights, the team has dropped battles to Pleasant, Middletown and Poughkeepsie.

It will be the Maroons' final away from home game for the year. After the Port Jervis tussle the club will return to the stadium for the Highland contest, November 8 and then the annual Turkey Day clash with Newburgh at the stadium November 20.

There is a possibility that Coach Weems will not have his two regulars in uniform next week. Harry Stahl is suffering from a case of boils on his knee and last Saturday afternoon Leland Boice was carried off the field to St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

However, both may be ready to do some duty even though not in the starting lineup. More word about these two gridders is forthcoming during this week.

It was a battered group of players that trotted off the field following the encounter with Poughkeepsie. Just about every athlete was carrying some type of injury which kept him from being in top physical shape. A number of players were taken out due to these injuries. Others remained in. However, none of the more serious players were allowed to see action.

This afternoon Coach Weems had his boys out in the daily practice routine at the stadium in preparation for the next game. Kingston has a lot to do before getting ready to meet Port Jervis. Still more work is expected on the offensive and defensive parts of the passing game. The aerial attack dished out by the Kallochmen was instrumental in beating the Maroons last week.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 29—There will be a meeting of the Sunday school board of the Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage tonight.

Miss Cleon Elsworth has been called here from her home in Mt. Vernon, due to the serious illness of her father, Millard Elsworth.

This evening in the men's Bowling League, teams one and four will play at 6:45 o'clock and teams two and three at 9 o'clock. There will be no open bowling this evening, since the teams are making up back games to catch up with the schedule. Next Monday, November 3, the teams will be on regular schedule.

The finance committee of the Parent-Teacher Association will hold a food sale Saturday afternoon at Spinnys restaurant.

Tomorrow evening in the Ladies' Bowling League teams one and two will play at 6:45 o'clock and teams three and four at 8:45 o'clock.

GRANGE NEWS

Highland Grange 888 received two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wilson from Pancake Hollow at their meeting October 21. Several of the men members volunteered to cut the necessary wood for the winter and to do the work this or next week. The hall of the Grange has been rented for two weddings and for the turkey dinner of the Republican Club, October 29. Albert Shaw had prepared a quiz program as entertainment. Following refreshments served by Mrs. Millie Dimsey and Mrs. Gladys Mears, dart ball was played with the men winners of the game.

Local Semi-Pro Outfit Hopes to Have Large Turnout to Have Booster Day

With the announcement that the strong and colorful Hoboken, N. J., gridders will be here at municipal stadium Sunday afternoon, further plans are being made to make the Booster Day a complete success for the Kingston Yellow Jackets.

So far this year the Wasps haven't been able to lure too many customers to the uptown ball park and as a result the team has gone far into the red. However, fairly good turnouts have been responding to the games. This Sunday the club hopes to see at least 1,000 spectators in the stands.

Tickets for the game are being sold in various parts of the city. The club believes the pre-game sale of tickets will help to boost the crowd for the contest. Merchants of the city and sport fans also are being contacted for their assistance in making Booster Day a success.

Although the Wasps haven't announced their future as far as home games are concerned, it is believed that the gridders will accept a few out-of-town offers for games in Newburgh and Schenectady before the season is completed.

In all of their games this year the Yellow Jackets have been displaying enough power and deception to win most of these encounters. However, a few tough breaks have forced the club to accept defeat.

Last Sunday against the powerful Middletown Clothiers the local semi-pro outfit had the Middies well in hand for the better part of the contest. Then a bad break meant the ball game after the club had retained a lead throughout.

A few more practice sessions will be held before Sunday in preparation for this game with the Skeeter State club. Vast improvement in the Wasps' attack and defense has been noted in every game since the opener. Now with the trimmings for this Hoboken contest, the Yellow Jackets hope to find themselves in excellent shape, both physically and mentally.

Newburgh to Start Cage Drills Early For Coming Season

Coach Goewey Prepares to Issue First Call Soon to Give Team Extra Practice

While Coach Bill Elder's Newburgh Free Academy football team still entertains a possibility of winning the DUSO League, other news came out of the Hilly City school yesterday when it was announced that the Goldbacks will probably begin basketball practice at least two weeks in advance.

C. Irving Goewey, coach of the Newburgh team, said that the cagers need more time to prepare for the opening DUSO tussles as well as the non-league engagements. In previous years the Newburgh team played its opening games with only two weeks of preparation. Under this new idea, the club will have a month of training before the opener.

In making this announcement, Goewey stated, "if state regulations permit such an early start, the issue will be given next Monday for the first call. Basketball players who continue to play football will be permitted to join the squad at the completion of the gridiron season."

While Newburgh has started this new arrangement in order to give the cagers more practice, no official word has been given by Coach G. Warren Kias on the method for training of his cagers. It is believed, however, that the team will start drills during the Thanksgiving week.

George "Koke" Kohler, captain-elect of the Goldbacks, is at present confined to his home with a knee injury sustained while playing football. Kohler received his injury in the Port Jervis game. Coach Goewey fears that this stellar cager will be on the sidelines most of the time this year.

St. Louis — Panther Williams, 213, Des Moines, knocked out Harry Cooper, 194, Brooklyn (8).

The object, H. W. Johnson, police superintendent of traffic and safety, said, is to prove the efficiency of the drunkometer and to furnish visual evidence of how much alcohol handicaps driving ability.

"It will be the first large scale demonstration of alcoholic effect on drivers that ever has been made. The driver, however, definitely will have the edge on alcohol. The conditions of surprise encountered in traffic and the hilarious carefree attitude of a driver out on a lark will be lacking.

The subjects' names will not be disclosed.

Christmas Seals Committees Are Appointed

Freeman Photo

Last evening the group was organized for this year's Christmas Seal Drive and Judge Joseph M. Fowler was elected to be general chairman of the drive. He in turn appointed the various committees. Shown in the picture are left to right, Sam N. Mann, publicity committee; the Rev. Maurice Venno, speakers' committee; Dr. Frederic Holcomb, publicity committee; Judge Fowler, Mrs. Theodor Oxholm of Esopus, Mrs. Dorothy Hoemer of Ellenville and Miss Marguerite Quick of High Falls, members of the supplementary events committee. Edward Huben of Rosendale also is a member of the publicity committee but was not present at the time the picture was taken.

This is the 35th Christmas season in America that has brought forth a group of voluntary workers ready to cooperate with state and local tuberculosis associations for the purpose of raising funds in this area to assist the nation-wide campaign against tuberculosis.

The campaign opens November 24 and continues through Christmas. "I am impressed," said Judge Fowler, "with the fact that tuberculosis still leads numerically in the causes of death between the ages of 15 and 45. I believe Christmas Seals in years past have helped fight a good fight. Kingston and Ulster, like all other communities, has its tuberculosis problem, and at least once a year we should intensify our efforts to help solve the problem. This is the time to pile up more ammunition for a militant campaign against the disease."

Plaintiffs Say They Were Injured by Bus

The action brought by Harry Overbaugh and his daughter, Shirley Overbaugh, of Kiskatom, against the Mountain View Coach Lines was continued Tuesday afternoon in Supreme Court with several witnesses sworn.

Plaintiffs allege that both were injured severely when the truck of Mr. Overbaugh was struck by a bus at Washington and Church streets in Malden on August 3, 1940. Ralph Cosmin, driver of the bus, is also a defendant.

Mr. Overbaugh suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain and contusions and lacerations while his daughter had three fractured ribs and contusions and lacerations.

It was the contention of the plaintiffs that they approached the intersection with the intention of turning south on Church street and that the bus was proceeding north on Church street. Mr. Overbaugh said he was proceeding up from the river on Washington street and had reached the intersection of Church street when he stopped his car which was practically new. He saw a bus coming up the road but believed he had time to make the turn. He placed the bus 500 feet away but later on cross examination said it might have been 300 feet. As he entered the intersection, which is partially obstructed by a large lilac bush, he was struck. He recalled nothing more until two days later when he recovered consciousness in the hospital. Repairs to his truck cost nearly $500.

Sergeant J. J. Cunningham, Trooper Keefe and Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg testified to the position of the cars and the conditions at the point of the accident following the crash.

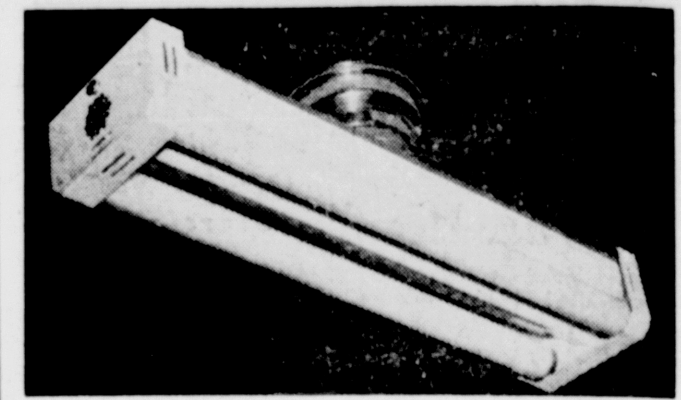

The driver of the bus denies negligence and claims he was proceeding down a grade in second gear when the Overbaugh car suddenly appeared in front of his vehicle and there was a crash.

He claims to have been going slowly at the time of the accident.

Testimony was continued. N. LeVan Haver and Leonard Warren of Coxsackie appear for the defendants and Judge A. J. Cogswell and Ernest Schirmer of Saugerties appear for the plaintiffs.
